

Curriculum Structure and Delivery Policy

The educational programs at CHSU are planned to inculcate the knowledge and skills required by the contemporary practice of health care in the United States. The curriculum and assessments are planned and vetted by curriculum and assessment committees in each program.

All activities are designed to ultimately ensure that students demonstrate achievement of each of the respective Program Learning Outcomes and CHSU Global Learning Outcomes at the time of graduation. Activities are designed to appeal to the various learning styles of our students, and to help expand that repertoire of learning competencies, such that students develop the lifelong abilities necessary to becoming and remaining a competent provider of quality health care.
